KANTAR COVID-19 Barometer

Kantar interviewed 500 Australians aged 18+ online between the 23rd and 28th of April. They are nationally representative in terms of age, gender, and region.

The national mood: WE ARE...

Feeling concerned

Slightly concerned

Neutral

Slightly concerned

Concerned

Personally impacted

Slightly concerned

Neutral

Concerned

In comparison to the rest of the world

The Australian economy also continues to drop, especially in relation to tourism. However, in comparison to the rest of the world, Australia’s economy is still relatively robust, with a total GDP decline of around 15%.

COVID-19

Australia’s COVID-19 wave 4 continues to plateaus, with daily new COVID-19 cases continuing to fall below 100. This has been celebrated very differently this year. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook.

We have been the hard work done?

At the time of the survey, physical social interaction was the main concern for the Australian population, with a decrease in social distancing restrictions (+2). The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook.

We are adapting our habits during this lockdown

At the time of the survey, physical social interaction was the main concern for the Australian population, with a decrease in social distancing restrictions (+2). The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook.

We are adapting our habits during this lockdown

At the time of the survey, physical social interaction was the main concern for the Australian population, with a decrease in social distancing restrictions (+2). The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook.

Social distancing restrictions

At the time of the survey, physical social interaction was the main concern for the Australian population, with a decrease in social distancing restrictions (+2). The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook.

Social distancing restrictions

At the time of the survey, physical social interaction was the main concern for the Australian population, with a decrease in social distancing restrictions (+2). The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook.

Social distancing restrictions

At the time of the survey, physical social interaction was the main concern for the Australian population, with a decrease in social distancing restrictions (+2). The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook.

Social distancing restrictions

At the time of the survey, physical social interaction was the main concern for the Australian population, with a decrease in social distancing restrictions (+2). The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook.

Social distancing restrictions

At the time of the survey, physical social interaction was the main concern for the Australian population, with a decrease in social distancing restrictions (+2). The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook. The number of new daily COVID-19 cases continues to drop, especially in relation to the rest of the world. In wave 4, Australia is still working on its economic outlook.